d. § 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article 13 of the constitution be amended by adding two new sections 9 and 10 to read as follows:

§ 9. All elections of judicial officers outside the city of New York, other than village judicial officers, shall occur at the election held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November in an even-numbered year, and the term of every such officer shall expire at the end of an even-numbered year. If the term of any such elected judicial officer serving their term as of the effective date of this amendment expires in an odd-numbered year, such judicial office shall be deemed vacant upon the expiration of such term.

§ 10. Notwithstanding any other provision of this constitution, the legislature may provide that any election held after the effective date of this section and not later than the general election in two thousand thirty-four to fill an elective office of the state or any political subdivision thereof, other than an elective office of the city of New York, of any county wholly included in such city, or of a village, for a full term or unexpired term that would otherwise expire at the end of an odd-numbered year shall be for a full term or unexpired term expiring at the end of an even-numbered year. This section shall not apply to any election held before such effective date or to any term resulting therefrom, nor to any judicial office subject to section twenty-one of article six of this constitution.

§ 3. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section 8 of article 13 of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 8. All elections of city officers, including supervisors, elected only in [~~any city or part of a city~~] the city of New York, and of county officers elected in any county wholly included in [~~a~~] such city, except to fill vacancies, shall be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November in an odd-numbered year, and the term of every such official or officer shall expire at the end of an odd-numbered year. Aside from the city of New York, all elections of city officers, including supervisors, elected in any city or part of a city, except to fill vacancies, shall be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November in an even-numbered year, and the term of every such official or officer shall expire at the end of an even-numbered year. This section shall not apply to elections of any judicial officer.

§ 4. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section 3 of article 13 of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 3. The legislature shall provide for filling vacancies in office, and in case of elective officers, no person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold [~~his or her~~] such office by virtue of such appointment longer than the commencement of the political year next succeeding the first annual election, or, in the case of an elective office outside the city of New York, the first annual election held in an even-numbered year, after the happening of the vacancy; provided, however, that nothing contained in this article shall prohibit the filling of vacancies on boards of education, including boards of education of community districts in the city school district of the city of New York, by appointment until the next regular school district election, whether or not such appointment shall extend beyond the thirty-first day of December in any year.

The lieutenant-governor shall be the president of the senate but shall have only a casting vote therein. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for [~~his or her~~] such lieutenant-governor services an annual salary to be fixed by joint resolution of the senate and assembly.

In case of vacancy in the offices of both governor and lieutenant-governor, a governor and lieutenant-governor shall be elected for the remainder of the term [~~at the next general election~~] on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November happening not less than three months after both offices shall have become vacant. No election of a lieutenant-governor shall be had in any event except at the time of electing a governor.

In case of vacancy in the offices of both governor and lieutenant-governor or if both of them shall be impeached, absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office of governor, the temporary president of the senate shall act as governor until the inability shall cease or until a governor shall be elected.

In case of vacancy in the office of lieutenant-governor alone, or if the lieutenant-governor shall be impeached, absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the duties of office, the temporary president of the senate shall perform all the duties of lieutenant-governor during such vacancy or inability.

If, when the duty of acting as governor devolves upon the temporary president of the senate, there be a vacancy in such office or the temporary president of the senate shall be absent from the state or otherwise unable to discharge the duties of governor, the speaker of the assembly shall act as governor during such vacancy or inability.
